Record at Les Murakami Stadium 824-507-1 (.619)

The stadium was first built in 1984 on the site of the old UH Stadium, which sat approximately 2,500 fans. With the success of his teams in the late 1970s and early 1980s, Head Coach Les Murakami led a charge to build a facility that could accommodate the droves that he foresaw. With the help of political backers at Washington Place, the state appropriated the money for the project, which took less than nine months to complete before its debut in UH's Feb. 17, 1984, game vs. Stanford.

Now in the 34th year of what was formerly known as Rainbow Stadium, Hawai'i has seen 3,788,551 fans attend baseball games. They have averaged 2,927 in the 1,294 games played at Les Murakami Stadium with 250 sellouts.

For the first season, UH played on the original playing surface, which was natural grass. The basepath, pitcher's mound and home plate consisted of a mixture of sand and crushed lava rocks. The roof only shaded the press box and a portion of the area in front of the press box.

Rainbow Stadium, as it was first named, cost $11.2 million in 1984. Adding a roof covering from first to third base and the original AstroTurf in 1985 pushed the final price tag to $12.2 million. The current surface features polyethylene blades that resemble blades of grass. It was then filled in with sand and rubber granules to cushion the turf and give a grass-like feel. The only dirt on the field is at the batter's box and the pitcher's mound, with different colored turf circling the infield.

In October 2001, the University then decided to change the name of the stadium to Les Murakami Stadium, honoring the man responsible for its building. Murakami was the school's first Division I full-time head coach and the 11th coach in the program's history, dating back to 1923. Not only did he turn the program into an NCAA Division I team that consistently competed on a national level for much of his tenure, but he was also largely responsible for the building of the stadium that is now compassionately known as "the house that Les built."

In the season that saw the three-millionth fan enter the gates at the Les Murakami Stadium, the facility completed its most recent face lift, as all 4,312 seats were replaced.

The new seats are all green instead of the red, orange and blue seats of before. They were implemented in the fall of 2008, giving the stadium a fresh new look.

This comes less than a year after the surface got an upgrade. During the winter of 2007, the stadium's AstroTurf surface was ripped away to make room for the new Domo Turf surface.

The stadium seats 4,312 with 3,738 of the seats covered to shelter fans from the "Manoa mist" that comes and goes throughout the day. It is a two-tiered structure with three levels of seating. In the middle of the upper section is the two-tiered pressbox, which also features one radio and one television booth on opposite sides.

The stadium contains two sunken dugouts with separate locker room facilities. There is also a hospitality room, meeting room, locker room for umpires, lounge for UH players and a training room.

During one six-year span from 1989 to '94, Rainbow baseball was at its most prosperous. In 279 home dates in that span, UH had a home record of 195-84 for a 69.9 winning percentage. Attendance flourished during that stretch, averaging 3,524 for a total attendance of 983,261, including 179 sellouts, nearly 65 percent of those games.

UH led the country in attendance twice, in 1986, averaging 2,599, and in 1992, averaging 4,433. The 208,378 fans that came through the gates in 1992 set an NCAA record that has since been eclipsed by Texas, and later Louisiana State.

Les Murakami Stadium has attracted numerous events over the years. It was home to the minor league Hawai'i Islanders in 1986 and the Hawai'i Winter Baseball League on two separate stints. The Hawai'i Island Movers summer baseball club has used the facility for more than 20 years. Other athletic events held there include the HHSAA state baseball championships, the AJA Baseball playoffs, the PAL opening ceremonies, Best of the West High School tournaments, UH Athletics Department Fun Run, the Special Olympics and numerous baseball clinics, including the Cal Ripken-Hideo Nomo Camp.

NEAL HONMA

LES MURAKAMI

In 1971, Les Murakami became the part-time head coach for the University of Hawai'i baseball team. He had no scholarships, no baseball field and no equipment to participate in a local baseball league. Pitcher Gerald Ako out of 'Aiea High School was Murakami's first scholarshiped player in 1974. Three seasons later, another 'Aiea alumnus, Derek Tatsuno, followed and would become arguably the greatest player in Rainbow baseball history. Soon, gatherings in the hundreds at UH games turned into standing-room-only sellouts in the little 2,500 all-aluminum bleacher facility that was the original Rainbow Stadium. During the next 30 years, he built an NCAA Division I power with full scholarships, an on-campus stadium and an all-collegiate schedule. He became one of the best coaches in college baseball history, posting a total of 1,079 wins. In his career, Murakami coached over 400 college players and 76 of them went on to play professional baseball. Under his leadership, his University of Hawai'i teams won the Western Athletic Conference six times, went to the NCAA tournament 11 times, was ranked No. 1 in the nation during 1979, and was the runner-up at the College World Series in 1980. That appearance got the ball rolling for construction of the present-day 4,312-seat structure that was named after the coach in 2001. In 1999, Murakami was inducted into the American Baseball Coaches' Association Hall of Fame.

DEREK TATSUNO

(1977-79) - One of the most dominant pitchers in NCAA history, Derek Tatsuno went a remarkable 40-6 during his career at UH, earning All-America honors as a sophomore and junior. The local product from 'Aiea High School on O'ahu was also a first-team all-region pick in each of his three years at UH. During his junior season, Tatsuno set NCAA records for season wins (20) and strikeouts (245) which still stand today. The flame-throwing left-hander was also selected as one of three Co-Players of the Century by Collegiate Baseball Magazine and was also voted to Baseball America's All-Century College Baseball Team. In addition, Tatsuno was named to the Collegiate Baseball America All-Time All-Star Team. After his career at UH, the former Team USA member was taken in the second round of the 1979 Major League Baseball Draft by the San Diego Padres, but opted to play professionally in Japan. He returned to the states to finish his career with the Milwaukee Brewers' organization, reaching the AAA level. A 12th-round draft pick of the Cincinnati Reds out of high school, Tatsuno would be selected in five more drafts before signing with Milwaukee in the first round in 1982. Tatsuno went on to play in the Brewers organization and, from 1983 to 1987, played for several minor league teams. His career came full circle when he returned to the islands to play AAA ball for the Hawai'i Islanders in 1987.

UH retired his number in 1997 and in 2007, he was inducted into the College Baseball Hall of Fame.

KOLTEN WONG

Only the third for the University of Hawai'i program, in 2017 UH retired the jersey number of former Rainbow Warrior All-American second baseman Kolten Wong. The retirement was announced during the 15th annual Grand Slam Celebration in February 2017, and the display was unveiled prior to opening day.

Wong's No. 14 jersey is displayed in the Les Murakami Stadium outfield alongside Murakami's No. 11 and Derek Tatsuno's No. 16.

"This is truly a blessing," Wong said during a pre-recorded video for the members of the Grand Slam Club. "What an honor this is. I feel really humbled that I was chosen. It's truly unbelievable to think that my number is going to be on that wall and every time I come back, I'll be able to see that and remember the times I had at UH."

"My times here were magical," Wong continued. "I grew up as a young kid watching UH baseball and cheering them on. When I got the chance to come to UH, I turned down every other school. I knew this is where I wanted to be – I wanted to be a Warrior, I wanted to be a Rainbow. I wanted to fight and play in front of my fans, in front of my family and in front of all of Hawai'i."

Inducted as one of the youngest players ever to join the Cape Cod Baseball Hall of Fame, Wong played three seasons from 2009-2011 for the Rainbow Warriors. He was a three-time All-WAC first team selection, in addition to 2011 All-America honors from Baseball America, the American Baseball Coaches Association and Perfect Game. As a sophomore, he was named MVP of the 2010 WAC Tournament, leading UH to the WAC title and two wins in the NCAA Regional in Tempe, Ariz.

Wong also garnered Freshman All-America honors following the 2009 season and appeared on the USA Baseball national team during series against Canada, Guatemala and Japan in North Carolina and British Columbia, Canada.

"We're honored to retire Kolten's number 14 that he wore here at UH," Coach Mike Trapasso said at the time of the announcement. "The incredible accomplishments on the field, and the type of person he is off the field made this an easy decision. Fans will now see Kolten's 14 on the outfield wall next to Coach Les Murakami's 11 and Derek Tatsuno's 16. That's rarified air and well deserved. Congratulations Kolten. Go Bows!"

During his time with Hawai'i, the Hilo native played in 178 games and held a batting career average of .358, ranking fourth among UH career averages. Wong accumulated 47 doubles, nine triples and a program second-most 25 home runs, while batting in 145 runs and crossing the plate 151 times himself.

Wong still ranks in the Hawai'i top-10 in several career statistical categories, including home runs, career batting average, slugging percentage, (3rd, .563), hits (9th, 245), doubles (10th, 47) and total bases (7th, 385). He also holds top-10 positions in three season statistics.

He remains tied for most home runs in a game, launching three at Loyola Marymount during his rookie year.

Wong went on to be selected in the first round of the 2011 MLB Draft, with the 22nd overall pick by the St. Louis Cardinals. He made his MLB debut in 2013 and played in the World Series later that season. He also helped the Cardinals to an appearance in the 2014 National League Championship Series.

Total Record: 21-24 (.467)

The 1980 Rainbows were arguably the most celebrated in program history, advancing to the NCAA College World Series in Omaha, Nebraska. The 'Bows defeated Florida State, St. John's and Miami (Fla.) to advance to the national championship game where they fell to Arizona. Hawai'i was led by a dominant pitching staff made up of 10-game winners Bryan Duquette, David Smith and Chuck Crim. Crim was fantastic throughout the season, posting a 15-0 record and defeating Florida State in the World Series opener.
